Four Injured In Road Mishaps

Salem Youth Hurt In Motorcycle Spill

Four persons were injured, one seriously, in four traffic mishaps that took place on district roads over the weekend.

Samuel Lippitt, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lippitt of 1742 N. Ellsworth Ave. is in fair condition in the Central Clinic today as a result of injuries received in a motorcycle spill on the Pine Lake Road, one-half mile west of its intersection with Rt. 62, north of Salem Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

The youth received a possible fractured skull, a fractured right wrist, multiple lacerations of the face, multiple abrasions of the body, and abrasions of the left ear. He will be cited in juvenile court for reckless operation and driving without a license.

Fairly Good Condition

William Ritter Jr., 20, of Wampum, Pa., is in fairly good condition today in City Hospital with severe multiple lacerations of the face sustained in a one-car accident on Rt. 154, one-half mile west of Negley, Sunday, at 12:10 a.m. Patrolmen said Ritter lost control of his car on a curve, causing it to leave the road and hit a utility pole. He was arrested for reckless operation.

Two persons were hurt in a mishap on Rt. 14, one mile east of Salem, Sunday at 8:50 p.m. Eva McClure, 43, of Willoughby, received contusions of the arm.

Clinic Is Again On Accredited List

The Salem Central Clinic & Hospital has again been granted full approval of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. Superintendent Albert Hanna was informed.

The approval follows an inspection of the 57-bed hospital made on Oct. 26. The evaluation is made from the standpoint of the hospital's physical plant, medical staff organization, administrative and personnel.

The Clinic, which has been on the full approval roster since 1949, completed a $148,000 building addition one year ago. Five years ago it expanded its facilities considerably with a building program that cost $300,000.

A board of trustees, headed by Dr. G. A. Roose, manages the Central Clinic.

YWCA Membership Drive Exceeds 500 Goal By 178

The YWCA membership campaign closed officially Saturday with a total of 678 memberships obtained, exceeding the goal of 500 by 178.

New Jersey Church Fires Called Arson

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Police have termed as "definitely arson" two church fires and attempts to start blazes in two other churches early Sunday.

Historic First Methodist Church suffered some $200,000 damage.

A smaller blaze did an estimated $500 damage to the First Born Living Church about a mile and half away. Detective Capt. Joseph E. Welsh said police found gasoline ignited in two other small churches close by the original fire.

Police and the Mercer County prosecutor's office continued their investigation today.

Welsh said the fires were "definitely arson."

Another officer, Lt. Lawrence Blocking, said:

"This is apparently the work of a religious fanatic firebug."

The blazes came nine months after St. Mary's Roman Catholic Cathedral was destroyed in a three-million-dollar fire. The lives of Msgr. Richard T. Crean and two women housekeepers were lost in that disaster, which is still listed as suspicious.

High School Concert Attended By 750

An estimated crowd of 750 persons attended the 11th annual Christmas vespers program presented Sunday afternoon by the Salem High School choral department.

Following a candlelight procession, the 220 students presented a program of Christmas music under the direction of F. Edwin Miller.

The Robed Choir, Girls Glee Club and Beginning Chorus participated in the program. Accompanists were Dixie Wilde, Richard Johnson and Louise Oswald.

The audience joined the choral groups in a Christmas carol sing.

Breakdown of the 678 memberships is: 404 adults, 264 juniors, and 10 subteens.

The YWCA committee, however, will continue its drive to reach a goal of 500 adult memberships, which means that 96 additional members must be secured. Headquarters will be open each day until Christmas from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Prospective members may also call ED 2-4232.

Eligible for membership, according to the committee, are grange members, 4-H groups, and citizens of surrounding communities.

Members of the local YWCA committee will appear Dec. 18 on the Adelaide Snyder television program on Youngstown Station WFMJ on behalf of the YWCA program here.

Scheduled to attend are Mrs. Frank Brian, general chairman; Mrs. Elliott Hansell, co-chairman, who will report on the campaign drive; and Mrs. J. Lee Pelley, steering committee member, who will give the results of tag days held on behalf of the campaign and junior and senior high member drives.

Mrs. Raymond Brenner of Youngstown, representative of the national regional YWCA, will explain benefits of a YWCA to a community.

A total of $425 was collected during the tag days Dec. 8-9 and Dec. 14-15 which will go into the campaign fund and which will be used for future running expenses.

British Battle Egypt Guerrillas As They Leave

10 Arabs Captured; All Allied Troops To Be Out Shortly

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—The British-French forces have begun the last phase of their withdrawal from Egypt after a tank-supported attack on guerrillas in retaliation for the ambush slaying of a British officer.

The deadline for the final pull-out was not announced. U. N. sources indicated it might be Tuesday or Wednesday. But Lt. Gen. Sir Hugh Stockwell, commander of the British-French task force, implied some of the Allied troops might still be on hand Thursday behind the barbed wire ringing their narrow beachhead along Port Said's harbor front.

Stockwell said he had agreed to a U. N. request to let 350 armed Egyptian police enter Port Said Tuesday and 350 more two days later "if the first contingent behaves itself."

Egyptian Police Ready
Egypt planned to have more than 1,000 black-uniformed police with rifles maintain order in the city after the British-French evacuation.

After the fighting Sunday the British withdrew behind the four miles of barbed wire that bounds their two-block-wide beachhead. The French were preparing to quit Port Fuad, across the harbor. The U. N. police patrol maintained order throughout the rest of the city.

British and French units staged their power drive against the guerrillas by moonlight late Saturday night and early Sunday through Port Said's dark streets and twisting alleys. The attack was launched after a British officer on patrol duty was killed by a grenade hurled from ambush.

Tanks rumbled through the streets and troops combed the alleys, firing at the elusive guerrillas during the 3½-hour battle. Bullets zoomed over rooftops and red streaks from tracer ammunition laced the sky. British officers said the Allied forces "killed some Egyptians—we're not sure of the number," and captured 10 men in the battle area.

The only casualty reported on the British-French side was the victim of the grenade ambush.

The guerrilla attacks have in-

USSR Charges Air Violation

Claims 3 U.S. B57s Flew Over Siberia

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government has accused three U.S. B57 jet bombers of trespassing near the big Pacific port of Vladivostok last week on a flight that was "clearly a reconnaissance attempt."

A Soviet note sent the State Department via the U.S. Embassy in Moscow demanded punishment for those responsible and that steps be taken to "prevent future violations of the state frontiers of the U.S.S.R. by American aircraft."

No Knowledge Of Flight
U.S. Air Force officials in Japan, where B57s have been stationed since last January, said they had no knowledge of any such flight. The State Department withheld comment until the note could be studied further.

The note said the three Ameri-

Soviet Chiefs, Poland To Air Status of Army

MOSCOW (AP)—Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov and Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov flew to Warsaw today to work out the "legal status" of Soviet troops on Polish territory.

The talks may set a new pattern for the Soviet Union's relationship with its East European satellites.

The Polish Communist party's "nationalist" boss, Wladyslaw Gomulka, in recent talks with Soviet leaders in Moscow agreed to let Russian soldiers remain in Poland but won agreement that the Polish government would have the final word on their numbers and movements.

An announcement after the Moscow talks said the two governments would negotiate later concerning the "strength and composition of the Soviet troops" in Poland.

(There have been reports recently of Polish workers demanding the complete withdrawal of Soviet troops. However, the regime wants to keep the Russian soldiers in Poland because they insure Polish retention of territory taken from Germany after World War II.)

The sudden departure of Zhukov and Shepilov took Western observers by surprise. Few had expected such rapid implementation of Gomulka's Moscow negotiations.

But this could have been speeded up by the widespread unrest reported in Poland recently.

The importance of the Warsaw talks was underlined by the Kremlin's sending two such leading ministers to the Polish capital. They have the delicate job of keeping the restless Poles from following Hungary's lead into revolt while at the same time making sure that the Soviet line of communications with its troops in East Germany is safeguarded.

Car Hits Train, 11 Persons Die

Speeding Train Didn't Know It Was Struck

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—An ancient passenger car slammed into the Southern Pacific's Golden State Limited today, killing 11 persons in the car.

The Limited, traveling at 75 m.p.h., continued on its way into Phoenix's Union Station, some three miles away, and only then did the train crew discover the accident.

Bits of human flesh and a car fender were found around the forward truck of the second half of the diesel engine.

Badly Mangled
A mortuary attendant said that the dead were three children and eight adults, but the bodies were so badly mangled that he was unable to determine their sex. He said he believed they were of Spanish-American or Indian descent.

The train crew said they felt only a "jar" when the car hit the train. Walter A. Vanderbriff, who was driving nearby and saw the accident, said:

"It sounded like a hammer hitting a two-by-four."

At the station the train paused two hours for minor repairs and continued on its way from Los Angeles to Chicago. No one aboard was hurt.

Marked By Wooden Sign
The accident occurred at a level crossing marked only by a standard wooden railroad sign.

Bodies of the dead were strewn along a 30-foot-deep, 200-foot gulch at the base of the railroad embankment.

One survivor, an 18-month-old girl, was found whimpering in bushes. She was taken to the Maricopa County Hospital, where surgeons operated on her for a fractured skull and a broken jaw.

The California highway patrol told investigators the car was registered to Donald L. Haga, Sacramento, Calif.

2 Leaders Seek Closer Relations Between Nations

No Specific Pacts To Be Worked Out In Talks At Gettysburg

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and India's Prime Minister Nehru set out for the privacy of Eisenhower's Pennsylvania farm today for secret talks on world issues including communism and Red China.

Eisenhower, riding in a White House limousine, picked up the Indian leader at Blair House, the government's guest residence, promptly at 8 a.m. CST. They started immediately on the drive of some 80 miles to the farm near Gettysburg.

There, without even their advisers on hand, the two national leaders will have opportunity for hours of uninterrupted private discussion. They plan to stay until midmorning Tuesday.

Seek Closer Relations
The basic aim is the achievement of closer relations and better understanding between the United States and India—not the working out of specific agreements.

Eisenhower was smiling broadly as he alighted from the automobile at Blair House, across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House, to greet his guest.

"Good morning, your excellency," Eisenhower said.

Nehru, wearing a heavy brown tweed coat and his white Gandhi hat, shook hands vigorously, and Eisenhower escorted him to the limousine.

They climbed in, posed briefly in the back seat for photographers, then sped away.

About 200 spectators gathered around the street to witness the departure.

9 Other Cars With Them
Nine additional automobiles, carrying secret servicemen, reporters, photographers and TV and newsreel cameramen followed the car carrying Eisenhower and Nehru.

"... Unto Us a Child Is Born"

Malachi - Prophecies of a Lowly King

Part 1

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the first in a series of eight studies of the setting and the people vital to the most joyful of all events in religious history—the Birth of Jesus.

By GEORGE CORNELL
(AP Newsfeatures)

THE STORY OF CHRIST and His mission on earth begins many centuries before His birth. Prophets long had foretold His coming. But to an ordinary citizen of Jerusalem at the time of Jesus' birth, it was hard to believe that the time had finally arrived. This might have been his story:

The words whisper down through the years. Haunting words. Lofty words. Words rustling like the winds among the tents of olden Israel. But who can still believe them?

In these corrupted days, with that Roman cat's paw, Herod, on the throne of Judea, it is hard to trust the old prophecies—that an exalted leader will come to shield the people, even all the nations of the earth.

BUT YET, the words persist, swirling through memory like hidden waters, flowing down from father to son, through all the generations:

"And His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor... the Mighty God... the everlasting... Prince of Peace. Of the increase of His government and peace there shall be no end..."

Old words, dimmed by years muted by graves of broken hopes. They are in the book of that silver-voiced prophet Isaiah, who lived 700 years before this present tainted reign of Herod.

But the words still blaze and linger:

"Have ye not known? Have ye not heard? Hath it not been told you from the beginning?... Behold, a King shall reign in righteousness... And the stretching out of His wings shall fill the breadth of the lands..."

But how? Who could lift up such a peerless majesty, with Judea once again beneath a foreign heel, with our people scattered to the four winds, and only a remnant left in Jerusalem, and strangers all about?

Yet, we brood and yearn. EVEN NOW, there comes this new, rash tale from Bethlehem about a God-sent child. Ah, that it were so. But it is merely gossip by unlettered herdsmen, the poor and quarry slaves. They, too recall Isaiah's words:

"Behold, a virgin shall conceive and bear a Son and shall call His name Immanuel... With righteousness shall he judge the poor... with equity to the meek of the earth... And the glory of the Lord shall be revealed..."

Musty old words, impossible sounding now. Already this land teems with graven gods, with fancied spirits of men's devising. Unlike these, Isaiah foresaw a living, real deliverer:

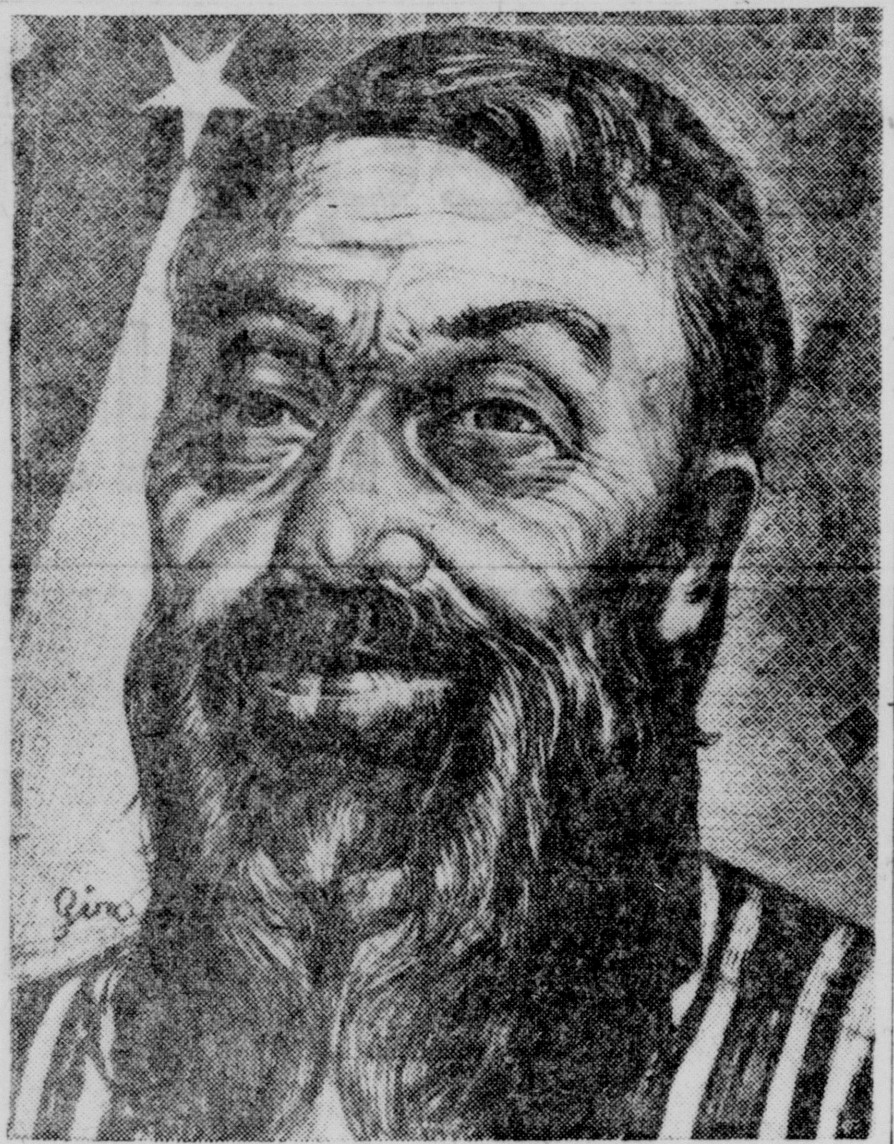

"... Unto us a Son is given... And He will lift up an ensign to the nations from afar..."

Puzzling words. Did Isaiah mean a wholly mortal ruler? His passions dwelt much on human matters, against injustices by priests and nobles. And yet he said this coming one would also reinforce the soul.

"... HE SHALL BE as an hiding place from the wind, a covert from the tempest... And a high-way shall be there and a way... The redeemed shall walk there... the ransomed of the Lord... With joy shall ye draw water out of the wells of salvation..."

What expectations! But hardly still believable. Even in Isaiah's own day, even though he held aristocratic prestige in the royal court, many spurned his words. They called him disloyal, a betrayer.

So why still heed his ancient words? All men know this nation ever since has felt the lash and yoke of conquerors—Assyrian, Egyptian, Macedonian, Persian, Babylonian, Roman. A world kingdom, indeed!

Still the old words prick the mind like never dying embers. More goading still, with these reckless rumors abroad from Bethlehem, is that so many other prophets had the same presentiments.

All were discerning men, driven by some inner mandate to be spokesmen for the Lord.

That priestly prophet Malachi, 450 years before the reign of Herod, lashed at the hollow ritual, the laxity and idol-bowing of his day, and spoke these words of the Lord:

"BEHOLD, I will send My Messenger and He shall prepare the way before Me, and the Lord whom ye seek shall come suddenly to the temple... And He shall sit as a Refiner and Purifier..."

Even further back, 1,000 years or more, prophets heralded a coming illustrious one—Joel, Amos and others. They said he would be as a light, and even Gentiles, far and near, would be drawn to its brilliance.

"Behold, thy King cometh unto thee; He is just and having salvation; lowly and riding upon an ass... His dominion shall be from sea even to sea, from the river even unto the ends of the earth."

Most unseemly—a "lowly" king! How could our Jewish people raise up a king of any kind, with a million of us in Egypt, more in Syria, others in Rome, and less than 100,000 left in Jerusalem, now overrun by aliens and their ways?

Yet, that gentle, wise and rapier-tongued prophet, Jeremiah, who endured prisons and floggings for his piercing wisdom, also insisted that such a one would come—that the Lord would make "a new covenant."

It agitates one to ponder these things. But they seem to sweep into the thoughts from the very air. Just about 200 years ago the prophet Daniel had his vision:

"BEHOLD, one like the Son of Man came with the clouds of heaven... and there was given him dominion and glory... and everlasting dominion which shall not pass away."

Truly, all this is bewildering. But the words remain, like unquenchable flames. You cannot believe, but you do believe, locked in the words of ancient days, captive to the music of Isaiah, bound to the voice he drew from the Almighty:

"Fear not, for I am with thee... Let all the nations be gathered together and let the people be assembled... And a little Child shall lead them... Arise, shine, for thy light is come and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee..."

Lift up thine eyes... Sing the Lord a new song... Every valley shall be exalted and every mountain and hill shall be made low... And He shall feed the flock like a shepherd, He shall gather the lambs with His arms and carry them in His bosom and shall gently lead..."

Ohio Electors To Cast Votes

Ike To Get All 25 Ballots From Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's electoral college meets today to cast its 25 votes for the reelection of President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Former Gov. Myers Y. Cooper (1929-1931) is slated to preside as chairman for the 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. ceremonies in the Ohio House of Representatives. The Cincinnati presided at the last previous session in 1952 when Ohio's big bloc of votes went to Republicans Eisenhower and Nixon.

Judge William L. Hart, 89, of Alliance, will swear in electors as his last official act before expiration of his term as a member of the Ohio Supreme Court. The quadrennial ceremonies are similar to those of other electoral colleges in the various states. They are part of the complicated process of electing the nation's top executives.

Because Republicans voted in the majority in the Nov. 6 election, the party won all of Ohio's electoral votes under an all-or-nothing system. Ohio has an electoral vote for each of her 23 congressmen and two senators.

Voters who marked presidential ballots in the Ohio election actually selected electoral college members pledged to standard bearers of their party. Buckeye electors are duty bound to vote for their party nominees.

Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche, who becomes a U.S. senator next month, will address the morning meeting at which routine business will be transacted. Actual voting will take place this afternoon.

Certificates of ascertainment based on the vote will go to Washington, Ohio Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and U.S. District Judge Mel G. Underwood of Columbus. Presentation of the various state certificates to a joint session of Congress next month will complete the Eisenhower-Nixon re-election.

Electors will receive $10 each plus 10 cents a mile in expenses for their Columbus trip. Mileage allowances four years ago totaled $267.50.

State GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss will be host to the electors at a noon luncheon.

Ohio's electoral college is composed of party officials and civic leaders in their communities.

Five of this year's electors also were members of the 1952 college. Besides Cooper, they are: Loren M. Berry of Dayton, Homer M. Edwards of Ironton, Virgil O. Mathias of New Philadelphia, Carl W. Ullman of Youngstown.

Others are: Jesse K. Brumbaugh of Greenville, Courtney Burton of Gates Mills near Cleveland, Rep. Clifton L. Caryl of Marysville, Rep. Harry Corkwell of Ottawa, Louis S. Dubay of Cleveland, John F. Ernsthausen of Norwalk, Preston Hanawalt of Cleveland Heights, Russ C. Huddleston of East Liverpool, Hugh Huntington of Columbus.

Wage Logsdon of Millersburg, J. E. L. MacAdam of Wadsworth, George C. McConaughy Jr., of Columbus, Harry L. Olden of Cincinnati, Mrs. Arline A. O'Mallia of Cleveland, Ben H. Putnam Jr. of Marietta, Robert A. Stranahan Sr., of Toledo, Mrs. Elsie Street of Rocky River near Cleveland, Sam Summers of Ravenna, Mrs. Martha C. Wheatcraft of Galion and Richard Willis Jr. of Washington Court House.

Corkwell replaced the late Dr. C. W. Fogle of Leipsic as a member.

U.S. Electors Set To Elect Ike 457-74

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 531 members of the Electoral College for whom the people actually voted in the Nov. 6 presidential election formally cast their votes today for re-election of President Eisenhower.

The depositing of their ballots in the state capitals is the second step in the nation's electoral process. The third and final move is made when Congress in joint session counts the electoral votes Jan. 7.

Barring some totally unexpected development, Eisenhower will be declared the winner by 457 electoral votes to 74 for Adlai E. Stevenson. The latter carried only seven states in the popular count. A winner must poll 266 electoral votes.

The total popular vote as tabulated by The Associated Press was Eisenhower 35,575,420; Stevenson 26,033,066, with Rhode Island's vote still unofficial pending completion of an absentee vote count.

Santa and the SECRET ROOM

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

Synopsis: My family would not believe my story. I wished that Calhoun McGillicuddy were there to help me. In the middle of the night he appeared in answer to my wish. He fainted when I told him about Santa.

CHAPTER TWELVE

When Calhoun McGillicuddy revived he grasped my hand. "Alexander, you've given me a mighty shock. Now tell me it's a joke, and I'll forgive you, boy."

I told him it wasn't a joke. I told him how we had found a sorcerer in the palace who was pretending to be king and was searching for a mixture that would turn everyone into gold.

So far he had managed only to turn people into stone and that is what he had done to the real king and to the princess and to Santa.

"Oh, it's awful!" I cried. "No one will believe me and I don't know what to do!"

Calhoun McGillicuddy pounced his fist into his hand. "There's only one thing to do! Come with me, Alexander."

I wiggled into my clothes and went out with the elf.

"If the sorcerer has something that will turn people into stone he must have something that will turn them back again," said McGillicuddy. "It's up to you to get it from him."

"But, what can I do?"

"OFFER GOLD to the sorcerer," said the elf. "If gold is what he wants then we will find him gold. Tell him you'll get him lots and lots of gold if he'll turn Santa and all those folks back to themselves."

"What if he turns me to stone?" I quavered.

"Sooner or later," said McGillicuddy, "he's going to turn everyone to stone."

I could see he was right. I went with him to the palace. He crept under a bush to wait for me.

I went up to the guard house. "The king is looking for me," I said.

The astonished guard took me in to the palace and led me to the secret room.

The door opened a crack and the sorcerer reached out and drew me in.

"Boy," he said happily, "am I glad to see you! I've mixed a new formula tonight and this is surely the right one. It is so powerful it will take three days to work. I will sprinkle it on you and in three days you will turn to gold!"

AMA To Reassess Fluoridation Stand

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A fact-finding committee of the American Medical Assn. is reassessing the association's favorable stand on fluoridation of drinking water.

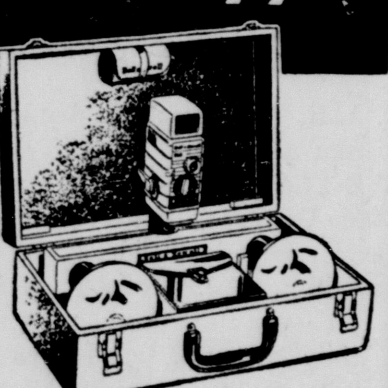

Dr. David B. Allman, president-elect of the association, said Friday that after the five-man committee reports its findings at some future AMA meeting, the association "will either reaffirm its previous stand or state otherwise."

Four years ago, the AMA endorsed fluoridation as a means to prevent children's tooth decay. Since then, many cities throughout the country have adopted the principle while others are opposed.

Dr. Allman, an Atlantic City physician, said he believed the committee would reaffirm the association's stand favoring fluoridation.

The feeling in the AMA, he said, is not unanimous on fluoridation but the "overwhelming majority of the members are definitely of the opinion that fluoridation not only is safe but also beneficial for the improvement of dental health in children."

Fare On Television Hasn't Been Outstanding During Year

EDITOR'S NOTE — How have things been looking on your TV set this year? In the first of two articles, a TV writer sums up how things look on his.

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — The year now drawing to a close has not been outstanding in television. The fare on the home screen, with notable exceptions, has ranged from mediocre to poor.

The networks say they have been harassed by rising production costs and Federal inquiries into their activities. Production costs may be up, but no network finds its back to the financial wall.

There is one thing, above all, that worries the networks. That is the release of motion pictures, not all of them old, in "packages" to TV stations throughout the country. The viewing public appears to enjoy these movies. What the networks fear from this development is the loss of viewers in prime hours. When a station may decide to run a movie instead of a program in which a network has made a large investment, the network is the loser.

Partially as a result of concern over the competition of movies, the networks have generally sought to follow tried formulas of "sure fire" entertainment this year. What has proved successful in the past would prove successful in the present, they seemed to feel. But the high casualty rate among this fall's new programs is beginning to make them realize there is no "sure fire" formula.

Program to Rehabilitate Alcoholics Is Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A three-man panel of experts Sunday called for a program of "research, treatment and rehabilitation" in helping the nation's five million alcoholics.

Punishment is not the answer, according to Dr. Sheldon Bacon, director of the Yale School of Alcohol Studies. Bacon, Hershell Holland, a member of the Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission and William Sterling, first director of the Alcoholism Committee of Detroit, appeared on the panel at Columbus' town meeting.

The hours between 2 and 4 p. m. on Saturdays are the most dangerous period for accidents on farms, a recent Pennsylvania survey shows. Teenage boys are most likely to have accidents in their hasty efforts to finish in time for Saturday night dates.

Walk, Don't Run

Things never looked worse than they look now as the glum observation of 78-year-old Herbert H. Lehman of New York at a banquet in his honor last Wednesday night.

When a man who has served with distinction in public life, fulfilling his promise as a gifted youth, says the world never was closer to disaster than it is now he commands attention.

But he also commands dissent, because there are two fixed points of view among aging citizens, and both are based on the same evidence.

The evidence is construed by the alarmists to mean that disaster is imminent, therefore the sensible thing to do is to get ready for it.

Sen. Lehman, it may be assumed, was one of the Democrats who wanted the presidential campaign this year to hammer the theme that all was lost, or nearly so, and everybody should jump for his life.

Americans did not respond to this panic button last fall. They are not susceptible to panic now, although they are fully aware of the grave implications of current events.

Why? Because there never has been a year-end in their lifetimes or in the lifetimes of their immediate and remote ancestors when prophets of doom did not look about them and say glumly that things never looked worse.

There never has been a year-end when fatuous fools did not beam on the same evidence and say brightly that things never looked better.

Things always look the same; only extremists see them in black-and-white contrasts of all good and all bad.

This is the season for extremists who tell how things look, so be forewarned.

They are neither as bad nor as good as they will be described.

They are a little of one, a little of the other—a mixed picture.

But even if the place were on fire, which it isn't, we would walk, not run, to the nearest exit. Anything wrong about that?

In Front Of The Fire

To a degree unmatched in recent years, personal diplomacy will be practiced between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Nehru.

When these two men sit in front of the fire Monday in the President's home at Gettysburg, they will talk as individuals, not as spokesmen. The prime minister of India will have come to the United States to see Dwight Eisenhower in person. Mr. Eisenhower will be entertaining Jawaharlal Nehru.

The two men theoretically have little in common.

Actually, they may have as much in common as any two heads of state who could exchange viewpoints in this momentous December.

President Eisenhower draws no color line in diplomatic dealings. He understands the growing importance of Asiatic nations and approves of it. He wants the United States to be the symbol of 20th century enlightenment that rejects 19th century colonialism.

Prime Minister Nehru is an objective thinker who can grasp the potentialities of Asia and Africa without being electrified into a state of hysteria. He is a cultured man of the world.

It is too much to hope that everybody else might clear out and let these two men understand each other. But even within the limits of the foolish distractions that go with high-level parleying, no person-to-person meeting of recent years offers more value than the forthcoming conversations between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Nehru.

The Judge Was Right

The issue of desegregation in education has been muddled until its main elements have been lost sight of. Two of them, in particular, need to be kept in sight.

The Supreme Court in 1954 did not order desegregation. It only declared that segregation henceforth was unconstitutional, leaving the question of how, where and when to obey the constitution unanswered.

A year later, the Supreme Court declared segregation must be ended "with all deliberate speed" but still set no deadline. It ruled that school authorities had primary responsibility but that U.S. District Courts should act as watchdogs. In the event local school authorities floundered, the federal judges presiding over District Courts were instructed to use their authority to get them back on the right track.

In Clinton, Tenn., where a few agitators tried to keep school authorities from going ahead with desegregation, the authorities themselves asked the federal judge to intervene. He did intervene with an injunction to restrain the agitators. The issue-fudgers, however, now are claiming that the judge usurped authority which belonged exclusively to the state of Tennessee and that the whole thing is a violation of state sovereignty.

Desegregation is tough enough without confusing it needlessly—and deliberately—with misinformation.

When the golf season ends a man's bitter half switches back to his better half.

Gettysburg Talks

By JAMES MARLOW

Ike, Nehru Out Of Vastly Different Worlds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two men who talk today at Gettysburg — President Eisenhower and India's Prime Minister Nehru — come out of worlds so different they might have been in different centuries.

Both men are natural leaders. Both have tempers. Both go in for platitudes. Both earnestly want peace. That much they have in common.

Eisenhower, a West Pointer trained to use force to preserve freedom, relies heavily on staff work to run the government.

Nehru, an intellectual who helped lead India to freedom through passive resistance, is less than an ideal administrator. He seems to trust himself most.

A good example is the number of jobs he holds: prime minister, foreign minister, defense minister, head of the planning commission and supervisor of the atomic energy program.

Eisenhower came from a family where all the sons had to earn their own way. All his adult life he lived under military discipline.

Nehru, only son of a wealthy father, never had to work. But he created his own personal discipline of passive resistance which he adhered to rigidly, even when jailed and when British troops beat him with sticks.

Eisenhower, an extrovert, loves the outdoors. He is a fairly un-complicated man who can talk over his problems and his thoughts with his aides.

The introverted Nehru likes people in the mass — according to his biographer Frank Moraes — but is so complicated that he never reveals himself completely even to his most trusted friends.

Eisenhower is head of the strongest nation on earth, and the most modern in its industrial development.

Nehru is head of one of the largest nations on earth — its 40 million people more than double the number of Americans — and one of the oldest. But among the big powers, it is militarily the weakest.

Eisenhower is trying to keep the United States in the lead in every way in the 20th century. Nehru is trying desperately to get India in to the 20th century.

Video Invasion

By HAL BOYLE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Notes from a roving sand dune:

Florida's flossy "Gold Coast" became the nation's television capital over the weekend as TV dignitaries ranging from David Sarnoff to J. Fred Muggs gathered here in Pastelville - by - the-sea for NBC's 30th anniversary.

Startled Seminole indians paddled deeper into the Everglades to escape the video invasion, but everyone else in southern Florida seemed bent on crashing the convention site — the glossy $17,000,000 Americana "hotel of the year" — for a wide-eyed look at some of TV's top stars at work and horseplay.

Most of the fans were autograph collectors, but one lady had a more serious hobby. When security police caught up with her a few minutes after she had skipped past the stout rope separating the upper crust from the lower crust, she had collected three handbags and was amiably looking around for a fourth.

You can lead a celebrity to water, but getting him into it is another matter.

Most of the glamorous stars stuck to the air waves, and boycotted the ocean waves—particularly after a sneaky gelatinous Portuguese man-o-war floated in and stung a lady swimmer on her—

"Well, if you'd been sitting down, it couldn't have happened," Groucho Marx did dash into the surf for a moment, but ran back out complaining "It's a hard place to keep a cigar lit."

One of the few stars who got wet was J. Fred Muggs, known as "The boy chimpanzee most likely to succeed in a woman's world."

While trying to outdo his rival, Dave Garroway, he fell into the hotel pool. He flew out in a rage, boarded a plane and left for Havana to test whether the roulette wheels there could really make a monkey of him.

Ever have a desire to stroll bare footed over the bare backs of an acre of lovely women?

Anyone with that ambition who wasn't here over the weekend missed a golden opportunity to achieve it.

Greatest eye-catcher of the convention was Miss Gina Lollobrigida, who proved she is all she has been stacked to be — and more. Bursting with vitality, Gina appeared at the grand opening brawl in a dress that had what is usually called a "plunging neckline." This dress went into a Kamikaze dive.

Anyone For Buffalo?

By KENNETH GILMORE

Buffalo are all the rage — dead or alive, on the hoof or dressed.

That they know for sure over at the Department of the Interior where the mail has been piling up. For example:

A New York night club wants some choice cuts of buffalo for its customers.

Boy Scouts want them for "cook-outs". A college wants one for a mascot.

Churches want them for socials. Sportsmen's associations want them for outings. People want them for pets.

A man named Byson wants a bison for an Elks picnic. And the zoo in Buffalo, N.Y., wants some — alive.

These are among more than 500 requests that have flooded the Fish and Wildlife Service since they recently announced the sale of this year's large surplus of buffalo.

Bison are making a stunning comeback in the U.S. and this has created an overflow of nearly 500 of the hulking animals. That's a big difference from 50 years ago when there were less than 100 of them in existence.

Today about 10,000 buffalo graze on the plains and some 6,000 of these belong to the federal government.

Since word went out that extras were on hand, the demand has been terrific, according to Interior officials. And the supply is now almost exhausted.

Preference is being given to applicants who wish to purchase the animals for breeding or exhibiting. Two buffalo will be shipped to Portugal for the Lisbon Zoo, and the zoos in Norfolk, Va., and Buffalo, N.Y., will buy bison.

"We're trying to spread them out as far as possible and give everybody a chance to have one," says William Ackerknecht of the Fish and Wildlife Service. "We're reluctant to see them used as pets and for purposes that are unsuitable to their nature."

For instance, he has turned down a request from a college for a buffalo to be used as a mascot. Seems it's too likely that the animal might get frightened and charge into the crowd.

"We want to make darn sure that they're in a secure enclosure and not able to hurt anyone," he explains.

The Service also makes sure that people who receive bison will not mistreat the animals. If necessary, they'll check on an applicant's facilities.

A number of people who have written in indicate that they have fenced off property ranging from 70 to 7,000 acres. Several individuals wanted as many as eight or 10 animals.

Among those letters from nearly every state in the union come some of the following remarks:

Wrote one man: "I'll take a butchered buffalo if it is in prime condition. If it is not, I'll take it on the hoof and fatten it up on my farm."

Another said: "I'm on a fat free diet and I'm tired of beef. I'll try some of that buffalo."

One man wanted a good set of buffalo horns for an Indian head-dress. A nature lover asked for a couple of seal if any were available, in addition to buffalo.

All the letters that look acceptable are relayed to the four federal Wildlife refuges in Montana, Oklahoma, Nebraska and North Dakota. And the Service sends prospective customers a leaflet with details of the annual sale.

It points out, for example, that live buffalo not less than two years old go for $150 each. Younger animals cost about $125.

A butchered carcass of a mature buffalo, weighing about 450 pounds, costs from $125 to $150.

So They Say

The interest in politics of children under five is amazing.—Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler, suggesting a ban on political contributions in children's names.

As long as the troops of the aggressors remain on Egyptian soil there is no guarantee that war may not break out again.—Dmitri Shepilov, Soviet foreign minister.

I want to make it clear that there is no racial or religious discrimination against the Jews in Egypt. Those who are not considered security risks are free to live here and conduct their business unmolested as they always have been.—Lieut. Col. Zakariah Mo-hyeddin, Egyptian minister of the interior.

I went to China because I wanted peace. I didn't find it there and I will now go back to lead a peaceful life with my family.—Arlie Pate of Carbondale, Ill., turncoat G.I. returning from six years in Red China.

Nearly half of the foreign students in the United States come here on their family's funds. The remainder receive financial assistance from private organizations in the United States. About ten percent receive aid from United States and foreign governments.

Hints On Decorating Trees For Christmas

Tricks With Statistics

By RAYMOND MOLEY

In the campaign which ended last month voters were pounded with the argument about poverty amidst plenty. Certain candidates in that campaign could not deny the broad picture of national prosperity, but spoke continuously of "pockets" of unemployment and destitution.

Indeed they were peering so intently into the pockets that they failed to see the coat.

This was demonstrated by an issue of the AFL - CIO "Labor's Economic Review," entitled "Unsolved Problem: America's Low-Income Families."

Bolstered by figures selected from reports of the Bureau of the Census, the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the Department of Commerce and the Congressional Joint Committee on the Economic Report the article reaches this conclusion:

"If we add together the total number of Americans in multi-person families with incomes of less than $2,000 (less than $38.50 per week) and in single person families with incomes under $1,000 (less than $19.50 per week), we find a total of more than 31 million Americans were in this sub-marginal income group in 1954.

In round numbers they account for about one-fifth of the entire nation."

The article fails to quote or mention the vital qualifications made by the Census Bureau that "in most cases the schedule entries for income are based on the memory or knowledge of one person, usually the wife of the family head."

The Bureau adds that this leads to underestimates, to misrepresentation and to a misunderstanding of just what income means. The Bureau, an institution with little humor, fails to add that the wife-informant herself may have been deceived by the husband for reasons known to us all.

In its treatment of the report of the Joint Committee on the Economic Report the article is very selective indeed.

It quotes from that report that "of every ten families in the United States, one family still receives a real money income of less than $1,000, and slightly more than two families have a real income less than $2,000.

There has been little change in the number of lower income families: there were 9,400,000 families with incomes under $2,000 in 1954, compared to 9,600,000 families in 1948.

Population growth over a period of six years is not considered, nor does Labor's Review mention the qualification made by the Joint Committee report: "These figures, of course, do not indicate how many of these low income families are living at sub-standard levels. Many possess other economic resources — savings and investments, subsistence farms or other non money income, owned homes, etc., and hence maintain an adequate level of living despite a limited cash income."

This AFL - CIO article merely offers a new variation on an old misrepresentation.

Twenty years ago President Roosevelt offered his followers the slogan, "one-third of our people are ill - fed, ill - housed and ill-clothed." This he apparently took completely out of the air or from the vague assertions of Henry Wallace.

His slogan was even at that moment denied by figures published by the Federal Reserve Board. Those figures showed that a very considerable proportion of the people with incomes of $2,000 or less owned considerable property including homes and liquid assets.

A great number were retired and living at least in part on self-made means of security. There were also a great many who simply were not interested in earning more and who preferred ease to affluence.

Roosevelt's "one-third of the nation" slogan which by its preposterous inaccuracy drove many a sincere citizen into his opposition was merely a variation of the ancient appeal which sets class against class.

This recent pronouncement of the AFL - CIO's "Economic Review," merely changes the "one-third" to "one-fifth" without presenting the essential qualifications.

OK To Cheat

By TRUMAN TWILL

All of us who worked in stores at one time or another should have no trouble wrapping Christmas packages — but we do too.

Everybody has trouble, even the females who work at packaging semi-professionally. Let one of those paragons lost control of a Christmas package and the shambles would do credit to her own father on Christmas Eve.

But things do not need to be as bad as the sometimes are, thanks to adhesive tape — not the kind in the medicine cabinet but the kind in the desk drawer. Any mancaput together a presentable Christmas package with a thousand feet of this stuff, a couple yards of ribbon and a few yards of decorated paper.

The approved method is to avert slippage, wrinkleage and lumpage with generous use of the tape until the package has taken shape, then to prettify it with decorator touches, such as two dozen assorted Christmas seals to conceal how the job was done.

One of these Christmasmas a sharpie will manufacture simulated ribbon with adhesive-tape backing, and men can become completely self-reliant about Christmas wrappings. It would be a race between this idea and a still better one, except for the initial cost of the better one.

This would make Christmas wrappings permanent by providing sets of plastic containers simulating Christmas packages — collapsible for easy storage and washable for hard use.

The truth is that the whole problem is preposterous, because those who think they got what they want for Christmas always tear off the wrapping without giving it a glance, while those who fear the worst only pretend to be admiring the wrapping while stalling for time. What they're really doing is figuring out what to say that won't reveal their irritation.

Wrappings don't make the present any more than clothes makes the man.

I worked in a clothing store in a hard-collar days. The sale I dreaded most was a couple of collars, because they had to be rolled up tightly together in a strip of specially-cut paper. Then, with the loose end of this starched coil held in place between thumb and forefinger, the clerk deftly stuffed the excess paper into the hole in the center — and there you were sir, two for 35 cents, no tax, thanks a lot and call again.

But deftly . . . When I tried it, the unrolled-up collars always sprang into life before the excess paper could be stuffed into place, or if trapped, they steadily expanded inside their little paper prison, splitting it as they uncoiled their strength.

Today, a problem like that would be solved with one of those merchandising tape machines that make store-packing fool-proof.

That's the point to Christmas packaging.

No one wraps packages the hard way any more.

• They cheat with adhesive tape. Why should Santa Claus be different?

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Thoughts On Auto Shows

This is the season of automobile shows, with the National in New York leading the way.

No longer is it just an auto exposition. It is a thing of floodlights, music, sex appeal, glamour, style, art and Arabian Nights, with the folks choosing an auto as they choose a de luxe bathroom, a ball gown, or a hat.

The lush and plush mood prevails. And the top reason for it all is an American prosperity so fantastic that a man hates to be caught in this years traffic jam in last year's car and is humiliated if a cop, arresting him for speeding, finds he is in the same station wagon in which he was arrested last summer.

THINGS HAVE REACHED a point where Americans turn in a car if the dust on the hood is not new. They are unhappy if the squeaks are a year old and hear a new model have them in a different key.

Mr. and Mrs. America buy cars for prestige. Even if without a spare pair of socks they believe they can reflect community influence by rolling around in a costly limousine on which there are only 15 more payments.

The common questions at an auto show used to be "Where are the petcocks?" and "Are the grease cups easy to reach?"

They have been completely replaced by: "Is the upholstery of genuine Chinese silk?" "Shouldn't the headlights come in colors?" and "How much prestige does this car give to the gallon?"

A SALESMAN can kill a sale by simply using the cliché of yesterday. "You can't wear this model out." Where a buyer used to ask, "Where is the battery?" he now asks, "Where is the champagne cooler?" The customer goes for the dream car at the dream price on the dream installment plans so he can be a little more comfortable in nightmare traffic on a dream highway.

The National Auto Show has the luxury tone as never before. It is something by Dali via Ziegfeld. There is a stage with a musical show, a band on a platform shaped like a cocktail glass, and beautiful dolls everywhere.

Comment: "That's a nice model" and you may get the retort, "You mean the blonde or the brunette?"

Coiffures take precedence over brakes, sex appeal eclipses transmission interest and it is quite wonderful to stare at an engine to Hit Parade music and the merry chatter of people who are having too much fun to go deeper into an auto's features than the upholstery and the mother-of-pearl ash trays. We are living in an age of opulence. (Even the motorcycle cop pursuing us is in a new de luxe model.)

BUCK CROUSE, who came to New York as a greenhorn to try his luck in newspaper work on the old Globe and, just when things were at their toughest, began a Broadway career which has become fabulous, has another hit in "Happy Hunting."

He did his first theater work for Joe Cook in "Strike Up the Band" a couple of decades ago, scored tremendously with "Anything Goes" and hit the peak with "Life With Father."

Starting on the Globe the sam yar was another newcomer, Maxwell Anderson, who wrote editorials, while Crouse on the floor below did rewriting between games of "Red Dog."

Neither knew the other beyond a casual nod, yet both were destined to scale the show world heights.

Three men who played minor parts in the Victor Riesel blinding case have been convicted in short order, but the thing to watch is what happens to the higher-ups believed to have directed the dastardly act. . . . Will they beat the rap, as so often happens, through powerful influences?

Two Gunmen Take $300,000 In Gems

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Two gunmen abducted a New York jewelry company owner as he left an airport Sunday night, police said, and robbed him of $300,000 in cut diamonds and emeralds.

Police said David Gurfein, 49, told them he was forced to drive a car at gun point through this Los Angeles suburb while one of the holdup men ransacked his briefcase seeking two envelopes containing the gems.

Officers said Gurfein, owner of the David Gurfein Jewelry Co., had arrived at Burbank Airport about 10:10 p.m. When he placed his bags in a rented car at the airport the men got in from each side, Gurfein told police.

The victim phoned police from a filling station after his abductors made him stop the car.

Tito May Be Invited To Visit U.S. Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia may soon be invited to visit the United States, it has been learned.

Authorities also appeared to feel that Tito — a Communist leader who successfully broke away from Russian domination in 1948 — would accept such an invitation from President Eisenhower.

Titoism — defiance of Soviet rule — has assumed a new importance in the Western world in the wake of the successful revolt against the Kremlin in Communist Poland and the bloody revolt in Hungary.

Some time ago Yugoslavian representatives put out strong feelers for a similar invitation for Tito, which Washington ignored.

CONSTIPATED?

new laxative discovery
un-locks bowel blocks
without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONOID, the amazing new lavative discovery is so effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripe; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! ing his eighth two-year term in the Senate and his third as majority leader.

Cloud, a farmer-businessman of DeGraff, is starting his fifth term in the House and second as speaker.

The two showed a marked spirit of co-operation in the 101st General Assembly, which extended to the governor's office when the Republican leaders saw eye-to-eye with Democrat Lausche — which was by no means all the time.

For the first time in a generation the Republicans have everything their own way. They are strong enough to override any opposition.

That kind of political power carries a responsibility as well as an opportunity.

Ohio voters will be watching the performance of the all-GOP team. How it reacts to its responsibility and whether it displays vision in its solution of the problems facing Ohio may determine the party's success in many elections to come.

can planes flew over the area of the big Siberian naval base Dec. 11 in the early afternoon.

"Fine weather and good visibility prevailed in the area, precluding the possibility that the pilots lost their way," the note declared. It contended the flight "can be regarded only as a premeditated action of the U.S. military authorities with obvious reconnaissance purposes."

The note gave no indication of any action taken by Soviet defense forces against the planes. But it concluded that "in the event of a recurrence . . . responsibility for the consequences of such violations will rest squarely on the government of the U.S.A."

Two Soviet MIG fighters shot down a U.S. Navy patrol plane off Vladivostok Sept. 4, 1954, and the Soviets charged the plane had flown over Siberia. Nine of the 10 men aboard were rescued. The United States denied the Russian charge of trespassing and said the plane was over international waters.

Ellsworth Board Cites Factors Favoring School Consolidation

Community characteristics, transportation conditions, and school population similarities were cited as favorable factors in a prospective merger of Ellsworth School District with the Berlin Center district in a letter sent out this week by the Ellsworth School Board to Ellsworth Township residents.

The letter was signed by Richard Klyne, board president. The Ellsworth board voted Nov. 26 to recommend a consolidation of Ellsworth with Berlin Center after 11 months of deliberation.

The Ellsworth board's action was prompted by the fact that state legislation on high school tuition support will require Ellsworth residents to pay total tuition costs for its high school pupils by 1959. The 71 high school students in the township now attend schools in outlying districts, and the state has been paying all but one and one-half mills of the tuition.

In addition, according to the letter, board members feel the school administration and citizens of Ellsworth Twp. "do not have the opportunity to plan and develop activities of the high school students." The letter stated also that it

Chicago Trounces Detroit 38-21 To Win Western Title

Casares Puts On Great Show

Bears To Face Giants For Pro Championship

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO — The Chicago Bears and Detroit Lions battled all over Wrigley Field Sunday with the Bears winning the Western Division title, 38-21.

The victory gave the Bears the right to meet the New York Giants for the National Football League crown at New York Dec. 30.

The last time either the Bears or Giants won a divisional title was in 1946. That year the Bears clipped New York in the championship game, 24-14.

The Bears-Lions battle offered a little of everything.

There was an individual star, spectacular plays, fights post-game accusations and topping it all was the tearing down of both metal goal posts—ala college football.

Bears fullback Rick Casares put on a brilliant one-man show in gaining 190 yards from scrimmage giving him a season's total of 1,126 yards. That broke the old Bears record of 1,004 set by Beattie Feathers in 1934.

Casares, who missed the last six minutes of the game, also came close to the league record of 1,146 yards rolled up by Steve Banerjee of Philadelphia in 1949.

The 225-pound former Florida star, a sophomore in pro football, turned in the game's most spectacular play. With the Bears trailing 7-3 in the second quarter, Casares rolled to the left and then plowed 68 yards through the Detroit defense for a touchdown which put the Bears ahead to stay.

It was sweet revenge for the Bears and Casares. The Bears were thoroughly beaten by the Lions, 42-10, at Detroit two weeks ago and Casares had been limited to 45 yards.

Detroit coach Buddy Parker, pointing to a second period block which put the quarterback Bobby Layne out of the game, accused the Bears of dirty play. The Lions charged that Bears end Ed Meadows deliberately put Layne out of the game.

Edwin J. Anderson, president of the Detroit club, said he'll ask the National Football League to throw Meadows out of pro football.

Layne suffered a slight brain concussion. He was released after a checkup at a hospital. Meadows insisted there was nothing dirty about the play. The big end later was ousted from the game after engaging in one of many fist fights which erupted all over the field. Many of the 49,086 fans took part in the scraps.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio — Ned Novell of Mogadore, whose football team won a game 57-0 by passing on every play, will help coach the Northern squad in the annual North-South Ohio All-Star High School football game at Canton, Aug. 16.

He was named an assistant yesterday by Tom Carey, head coach of the Northern squad. Carey also selected Lou Meszaros of Toledo Waite and Jack Llewellyn of Bay Village to help him.

As head coach, Carey was permitted to choose one of his players. He picked fullback Bill Clark of Youngstown East.

Cards Rip Cleveland 24-7; Brown Plans Some Changes

Pittsburgh, 49ers Grab Pro Victories

By JIM KENSIL
The Associated Press

Their names were Luckman, Sprinkle, Kavanaugh and Turner. Now they call them Casares, Brown, Hill and Meadows. But they're still the Chicago Bears and once again they're champions of the Western Conference in the National Football League.

It took them 10 years, six of them in the runner-up slot, to make it back into the sun, but you don't rebound quick in the tough pro loop. Ask the Detroit Lions. After three title years, the Lions slumped to the cellar in '55. Then this season they roared back all the way—until Sunday when the Bears slapped them down 38-21 in the crucial contest at Wrigley Field.

The Chicago triumph followed Saturday's 21-7 New York Giant victory over Philadelphia that gave the Giants' the Eastern crown. The Bears and Giants meet Dec. 30 at Yankee Stadium for the world championship.

In other games Sunday, Pittsburgh stunned Washington 23-0; the Chicago Cardinals defeated Cleveland 24-7; San Francisco rallied to down Baltimore 30-17; and Los Angeles rolled over Green Bay 49-29. That wrapped up NFL action for the season, with the exception of Washington at Baltimore next Sunday.

Sunday the Bears rolled like feared "Monsters of the Midway," the glory handle they earned by manhandling the NFL in the early '40s.

Fullback Rick Casares, the league's leading ground gainer, ran for 190 yards; J. C. Caroline again did double duty and scored once while on offense; the Ed Brown-to-Harlon Hill passing combination clicked for another Chicago score; George Blanda booted (a field goal and five conversions) as Blanda always does, and that was all.

The Lions, severely maimed when quarterback Bobby Layne was knocked out of action in the second period, were only a shadow of the team that had beaten the Bears 42-10 two weeks ago.

Casares went 68 yards in one touchdown burst for a 10-7 Bear lead in the second period and the Chicagoans held it the rest of the way. It was 17-7 at halftime, they swapped TDs in the third quarter, and Bears went going away in the final period with two touchdowns to the Lions' one.

Harry Gilmer, Layne's replacement, tossed for two Lion scores, but the Detroit club was bitter over the loss of Layne. Chicago defensive end Ed Meadows collided with Bobby, and the Lions contended after the game that Meadows collided with Bobby, and the Lions contended after the game that Meadows deliberately tried to disable Layne. Detroit owner Edwin J. Anderson and coach Buddy Parker said they would ask to have Meadows barred from the sport.

Meadows denied he was out to get Layne. "There was nothing dirty about the play," he said. The Detroit quarterback was released after a checkup at a hospital.

The game got plenty rough at several stages and Meadows and Detroit's Gil Mains were banished for fighting.

Casares cracked the all-time individual season rushing mark by a Bear. He totaled 1,126 for 12 games to top Beattie Feathers' 1,004, set in 1934.

A league rushing record fell at Los Angeles where Ram halfback Tom Wilson gained 223 yards in 23 carries. Gene Roberts of the Giants had 218 in 1950 for the previous single game record. The Rams pulled Green Bay down into a last-place tie in the West.

Several hundred miles to the north, San Francisco's 49ers shoved across 20 points in the final period to whip Baltimore. Joe Arenas cracked a 17-17 tie with a 68-yard touchdown that clinched third-place in the West for Frisco. The Colts can do no better than fourth.

The Chicago Cards clinched at least a tie for second in the East as Lamar McHan scored twice. The Browns wound up in a fourth place tie with Pittsburgh's Steelers. The Pitt team, led by quarterback Ted Marchibroda's passing, contained Washington all the way.

The Redskins, who can still tie for second, lost their chance for the Eastern title when the Giants whipped last-place Philadelphia on Saturday.

HEADS FOOTBALL OFFICIALS
CANTON, Ohio — Virgil Hinton of Canton was elected president of the Eastern Ohio Football Officials assn., it was announced last night. Paul Tobin of Akron was named vice president.

By FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND — Paul E. Brown, a bit disconsolate over his second losing season in 27 years of football coaching, today was using as his theme song "There'll Be Some Changes Made."

After 10 straight years of individual titles, and seven league championships in the professional ranks, the haughty Browns sported a 5-7 record and a fourth place tie in the Eastern Division of the National Football League.

The Chicago Cardinals, victims of the Browns 12 straight times up to this disastrous campaign, kept the Browns away from a 6-4 season yesterday as they plastered a 24-7 defeat on the Clevelanders.

The 5-7 record gave Brown, known for years as "Precision Paul" and the "miracle man," a total of 249 victories, 48 losses and 10 ties for his colorful career at Severn Prep, Massillon High School, Ohio State, Great Lakes Naval Station and with the Browns.

Gazing back today at the season, in which quarterbacking was the big problem, Brown said:

"We'll just have to appraise our quarterbacking once more. Yesterday's outcome hinged on interceptions, and we have a problem to correct along that line. For the first time we went without Otto Graham, and then our No. 1 and 2 men, George Ratterman and Babe Parilli, were lost through injuries."

"We picked up Tommy O'Connell in mid-season, and considering how he had to step into the gap and play the last five games without relief, he did a marvelous job. But his height (5-11) is against him."

"Quarterbacking isn't our only problem. We still have some things to find out about this team and there probably will be some spots to fill. We tried hard yesterday, but we just couldn't make the big play when we needed it."

"I think we are facing a pretty good overhauling program."

Brown said the only player who had told him he was retiring is Dante Lavelli, the star end who has been with the Browns since they were organized in 1946. He said he doubted if any others would quit before next season.

The Cards and Browns finished almost in a dead heat in yards gained, the invaders having a 252 to 251 yard edge. The Clevelanders wound up as the best defensive club in the circuit, allowing 17 points to 132 for the Cardinals, 138 for Detroit and 197 for the New York Giants—who were next in line.

But Cleveland was third low in scoring with 167 points. Philadelphia landing on the bottom with 143 and Washington second low with 166.

"It was just one of those days," Brown said.

Potters Eke Win Over Wellsville

WELLSVILLE — East Liverpool handed Wellsville its first setback in three outings with a 66-65 win here Saturday night before some 1,200 fans. It was the third straight for the Potters after dropping their opener against Farrell.

Phil Hayes sparked the Potters with 32 points, while Ray Rolley and Dan Baldwin each had 20 to pace the Bengals. East Liverpool won the reserve game, 63-48.

Ohio's List Of Unbeaten Teams Cut to 5

By HAL PARIS

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Ohio's list of unbeaten basketball teams was down to five today after last week's action saw seven Buckeye units suffer their first setbacks.

The big surprise was Cincinnati's 65-53 pasting of Dayton Saturday after the Flyers had played their best game of the season Wednesday in a two-point decision over Miami.

The loss to Dayton was the first for the veteran Redskins. Capital, Baldwin-Wallace, Xavier, Akron, Heidelberg and Steubenville also were first-time losers.

Still unbeaten and leading the select group is Defiance with a 6-0 mark. Muskingum and Ohio U. follow with 4-0 records while Ohio State and Mt. Union are 3-0.

Defiance is idle this week but Mt. Union plays twice on the road, Muskingum goes against Youngstown Wednesday and Ohio State resumes activity Saturday against Tulane. The game will be televised regionally.

Ohio University travels to Johnson City, Tenn., for a weekend tournament with Tennessee State, Marshall and Austin Peay.

In the big ones last week, unbeaten Wheaton snapped Akron's three-game winning streak, 72-65; Steubenville dropped a 72-71 thriller to Central State; Muskingum edged Capital 81-80 to grab the Ohio Conference lead and Miami captured its third straight Mid-American Conference victory by lacing Toledo, 81-64.

avier dropped a double-overtime struggle to Wichita and ran into another defeat at the hands of powerful SMU Saturday.

Ohio teams won 11 and lost 9 against out-of-state opponents last week, running their mark to 33 victories against 23 setbacks in inter-state play with a scoring edge of 4,402 to 4,034.

Bowling Green's ambitious Falcons pushed their record to 5-1 with victories over Detroit and DePaul. The Falcons move out on another road trip after a home game against Kent State Monday.

The conference tussle will be followed by another league encounter at Western Michigan Wednesday and then games Friday and Saturday at Brigham Young.

Mike Felchik Wins Sanford Open

SANFORD, Fla. — Mike Felchik of New York fired a 68 Sunday to win the $15,000 Sanford Open with a record 72-hole score of 263. Felchik captured the $2,400 first place money by two strokes over Frank Stranahan, the millionaire spark plug heir from Toledo, Ohio. Stranahan also posted a 68 in the final round.

Dow Finsterwald of New Bedford, Ohio, the year's second biggest money winner, finished third with 268.

Warriors Whip Leading Boston Celtics 116-104

By The Associated Press
The Philadelphia Warriors seem to have finally cut loose the shackles of a prolonged slump and today are in contention for the Eastern Division lead in the National Basketball Assn.

Paced by the usual prolific scoring of Paul Arizin and Neil Johnston, the Warriors moved into undisputed possession of second place Sunday night by knocking off the front-running Boston Celtics, 116-104. Philadelphia is now 3½ games out.

In other games, the Minneapolis Lakers moved up on the Rochester Royals, Western leaders, by edging them 101-97. Fort Wayne's Pistons tagged the New York Knickerbockers with an 84-80 defeat, and the Syracuse Nationals eased past the Hawks of St. Louis 101-91.

Warren Loses 79-58 To Toledo Waite

WARREN — Toledo Waite spoiled Warren Harding's dedication of its new gym Saturday night, posting a 79-58 victory over the Panthers.

Roger Reese tossed in 29 points for the visitors, who are coached by a former Warrenite, Chet LaBuda. It was the fifth straight win for Waite and third loss in three outings for Harding.

Tom Newhouse with 12 points was top scorer for Harding. Salem will play Warren Harding there Jan. 11.

Havana—Gallito Del Ring, 129, Cuba, outpointed Joe Gilchrist, 127, Washington, D.C., 10.

Manila—Al Asuncion, 117, Manila, knocked out Peter Keenan, 118, Glasgow, Scotland, 9.

U.S. May Use Youths In Davis Cup

PERTH, Australia — U. S. Davis Cup Captain Bill Talbert, well aware Civ Seixas and Herb Flam figure at best as outsiders against the likes of Aussies Lew Hobd and Ken Rosewall, today was toying with the idea of using his "kid cuppers" against Australia in the Challenge Round.

As the team prepared to fly to Adelaide to begin practice for the cup final beginning Dec. 26, Talbert said he might turn to 19-year-old Mike Green of Miami and Sammy Giammalva of Houston unless Seixas and Flam prove to him in workouts they have a chance to win.

"We have to start developing sometime," Talbert said, "and this might be the year."

The 33-year-old Seixas, in the midst of his sixth Davis Cup campaign, played exceptionally well as the Americans defeated India 4-1 in the interzone final here over the weekend.

Flam, 28, won his singles match but looked to be well below top form.

And, as all observers pointed out, it is one thing to beat players like India's Ramanathan Krishnan and Naresh Kumar and another to handle Rod and Rosewall, the world's best amateurs.

Green, considered America's best bet for the future, has had little international experience and showed it while substituting for Seixas after the series with India had been clinched. He lost in straight sets to Krishnan.

Giammalva, 22, had more success—teaming with Seixas in the clinching doubles match, then defeating Kumar, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2 in the last singles.

Salem Saxons Win Third Tilt In Row

Salem's Junior Saxons won their third straight basketball game Saturday night when they defeated the Youngstown Junior Saxons 72-54 in a game played on the Junior High School floor. The locals now have a 3-2 record.

Salem led all the way, stepping off to a 22-9 first quarter lead and continuing the onslaught in the second period. The locals had a comfortable 40-21 margin by intermission time.

The Salem Saxons kept up their fast pace, and at the end of the third stanza, the score remained in their favor 55-31.

Matt Klein was high scorer with 24 points for the winners, and Bill Vallot had 16 for the losers.

In the second half of the evening, Homestead, Pa., took undisputed first place in league standings as they smashed New Castle, Pa., 81-47. Listed below are the league standings.

San Francisco's Long Streak May Be Ended In 48 Hours

By DON WEIS

The Associated Press

Now comes the 48-hour period that Coach Phil Woolpert and the San Francisco Dons must have thought would have them twisting and turning.

The Dons take major college basketball's longest winning streak ever into George Huff Gym in Champaign, Illinois, to meet Illinois' unbeaten Big Ten favorites.

If the string, now standing at 60, still is intact, then there's Western Kentucky's racehorse Hilltoppers Wednesday in Louisville.

Both the Illini, seventh-rated in the last Associated Press poll, and Western, ranked 12th, take a lot of beating in their own backyards.

The Dons, NCAA champions the last two years but something less than invincible since Bill Russell and K. C. Jones departed, learned what it feels like to lose over the weekend — but it was a loss that didn't count.

Portsmouth Again Has Telephones

Phone Exchange Heavily Guarded

Barricades, Sandbags Placed Around Area

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Long-dead telephones played a welcome Yuletide "Jingle Bells" in Portsmouth today.

Exactly two months and nine hours after a strike-inspired shutdown blacked out all telephone service in Scioto County, emergency service was restored yesterday morning in a surprise move by the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co.

City officials were caught off guard but immediately turned the area around the firm's Portsmouth exchange into an armed camp. All was quiet. No pickets were in sight.

The entire city appeared happy and relieved that emergency telephone service was available, but at the same time it appeared apprehensive.

At least one National Guard unit was reported ready to move into the city quickly if there is any outbreak which the city police cannot handle. It was reported to be an Ironton unit based only 30 miles away.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche repeatedly has assured the firm he would call out the guard on a moment's notice if the Portsmouth situation gets out of hand. He repeated this statement yesterday.

Portsmouth police, under a new chief, Saturday completed a special course in handling public disturbances. It was after a stone-throwing incident at the area's three exchanges — Portsmouth, New Boston and Sciotoville—that Ohio Consolidated closed the exchanges the night of Oct. 15.

Exchanges in the other 23 Ohio counties hit by a strike of some 600 Communication Workers of America members which began last July 15 have been operating virtually without interruption with the help of supervisory personnel.

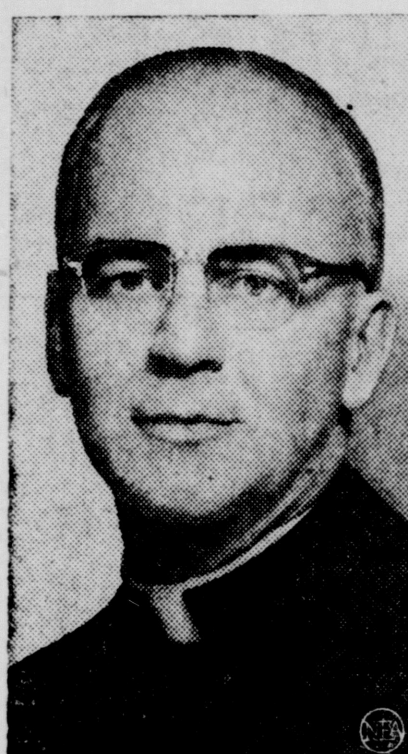

The blackout in neither the Sciotoville nor the New Boston exchanges was affected by Sunday's service restoration at the Portsmouth exchange. Neither has a dial operation.

A hearing was scheduled before the State Utilities Commission in Columbus today in which Ohio Consolidated was to "show cause" why it should not be ordered to restore emergency telephone service in all of Scioto County.

The company also is scheduled to appear in Common Pleas Court here on its application for a court order prohibiting—instead of limiting—picketing around its Scioto County exchanges.

Ohio Consolidated threw the switch which gave telephone-starved Portsmouth the long absent dial tone without a word of comment.

Four auto-loads of telephone workers came into the city about 7 a.m. and about an hour later service was restored. The company would not say from whence the workers came.

A company official said the ten long distance operators, the three maintenance men and several company officials in the group would eat and sleep in the exchange building until all danger of trouble is past.

The company had insisted through weeks of futile negotiation that it would not restore service in Portsmouth until it had firm assurances of adequate protection for personnel and equipment.

The Portsmouth police, under acting Chief Albert D. Bailey, quickly invoked a new emergency mobilization system.

All streets and alleys in a four-square-block area around the Portsmouth exchange in the city's hilltop are barricaded.

Rows of sandbags were placed across some. Floodlights shown brilliantly in the immediate exchange area.

All persons were barred from the area unless they reside there within its borders. There remained only one combination entrance and exit to the area and police are on 24-hour duty at that barricade. Police explained the area is barricaded to keep large groups of people from congregating near the exchange.

Plans also call for firemen armed with hoses to assist in quelling any violence.

Ohio Consolidated and the CWA are still deadlocked over the question of a union shop and other contract disputes holding up settlement.

The union last week rejected the company's "final" order. Union representatives say they will offer the company a counterproposal at a session in Columbus today.

Won't Pay Tax, Held For Disorderly Conduct

CLEVELAND (AP)—"Annoying" gas station attendants by refusing to pay the tax on gasoline constitutes disorderly conduct, in the opinion of Cleveland Police Prosecutor Bernard J. Conway.

He filed disorderly conduct charges Sunday against Lonnie Merrill Bey, 42, a foundry worker, who insists he is exempt from taxes as a "descendant of the defeated Moorish nation."

Bey says the U.S. tax laws do not apply to him because the "Moors" were never granted citizenship.

He was held briefly in jail two weeks ago after refusing to pay tax on gasoline. But he was freed when the prosecutors office said there was no law against a consumer refusing to pay a tax.

On his second arrest, Conway said:

"Obviously this man is trying to annoy gas station attendants by refusing to pay the tax. That is disorderly conduct."

FTC Checks Up On Newsprint Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission (FTC), at the request of Sen. Potter (R-Mich) is checking up on newsprint prices. Potter wrote FTC Chairman John W. Gwynne Nov. 30 that Canadian manufacturers soon were expected to boost newsprint prices. Potter asked that the FTC look into the situation.

Gwynne, in a letter made public by Potter today, replied: "I am taking this up with some members of the staff and also members of the commission and will write you further in the near future."

Potter, a member of the Senate Commerce Committee, had told Gwynne that "the sky-rocketing price of newsprint is working hardship" on both U.S. and Canadian publishers and business interests. He suggested that Canada might be willing to cooperate with the FTC in a program "to counteract restraint of trade and price fixing wherever they exist."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

One of the land's nastiest and most notorious labor racketeers officially got his start inside labor some years ago when he became a regional chief of something called the United Automobile Workers Union - AFL, now known by a more catch-all moniker, the Allied Industrial Workers.

IN THE REPORT are passages involving his union's gifts of $300 watches, $1200 diamond rings and free - spending trips to Las Vegas and the West Indies - with the best of everything, of course.

A senatorial committee asked Doria, who appeared quite unsinkable, to share his views with them on such gracious activities of the Chicago local union for which he sacrificed and labored as secretary - treasurer, while he doubled as national secretary-treasurer and tripled as secretary-treasurer of the real estate corporation.

Brother Doria was willing. His bark, you will notice, was not worse than his bite.

At one point in the Senate committee hearing Sen. Douglas asked: "Don't you think it's a rather bad practice to give watches at $300 and rings at $1200 and $1100?" Doria's answer: "I definitely do not, sir."

THEN SEN. GORDON Allott, of Colorado, said:

"If you earn them in a direct salary you are entitled to them (Diamonds and watches). No one quarrels with that. These funny payments, these funny kickbacks, this gaining of influence with little gifts and big gifts, to me is one of the most unfortunate things that could ever occur in an instance of this kind. Coupled with it is the fact that you have these mixed-up funds, insurance and union dues, and one man, one man alone, disbursing thousands and thousands and thousands of dollars upon his own say so . . .

This was in reference to a colleague of Doria's in Chicago, whom Doria was defending.

Then Paul Douglas broke in. "And approves his own expense account . . ."

the check and for all the records we have here so far, although he said he told the people about it after he did it, I believe . . . we do not have any sign of a report to the union membership as such."

SOON DOUGLAS swung into the fray:

"Mr. Doria, what distresses me is that in your defense and in that of Mr. Inciso (president of the Chicago local referred to here which now has withdrawn) from the national union—VR) you don't seem to realize that what you are doing is taking money out of the pockets of the workers."

"This money doesn't come out of the air. It is contributed both in union dues and insurance payments from people who are fairly hard pressed . . . Now I don't know whether this is legal. It may be . . . But I think we should examine not only the legality but the propriety of such acts.

"What distresses me is that both you and Mr. Inciso seem to see nothing wrong about these expenditures. You know it is expenditures like these which discredit the labor movement—discredit the good aims of the labor movement."

TO WHICH the genial Mr. Doria retorted:

"Senator, to the contrary. It is expenditures such as these that expand the horizon of labor leaders to the point where they can more adequately compete with what is sitting across the table from them that has been doing this for 100 years."

Finally Sen. Allott said almost wearily:

"Mr. Chairman, at this time I move we dismiss the witness. My only remark about it is this: I think that the remarks of this man, and also his predecessor on the witness stand, Mr. Inciso, have probably more graphically portrayed the conditions which this committee is aiming at than anything the committee might have produced, itself."

Questions, Answers On Social Security

Q — I received a notice last week that my Social Security Account has been frozen. How do I go about applying for disability payments? I am 60.

A — If your Social Security Account has been frozen, you may be eligible to qualify for monthly disability insurance benefits beginning for next July, if you are still disabled. An application for benefits will be necessary.

If a freeze has been established for you, your Social Security office will contact you prior to next June to assist you in claiming benefits. Depending upon the nature of your disability, you may also be asked to furnish additional medical evidence to prove you are still sufficiently disabled to qualify. If additional evidence is required, you will be provided appropriate report forms for securing it.

Q — I filed in September to have my Social Security record frozen, but have heard nothing as yet. Should I do anything further now to receive payments for next July? I am past 50.

A — If you have applied for the freeze, you will be notified when your application has been processed. If the freeze is allowed, you will probably be able to qualify for payments beginning for next July and you will be contacted before next June for an application for benefits. If the freeze is denied, you will not meet the requirements for eligibility for benefits. If your record is frozen, you should notify the Social Security Administration of any change of address.

Q — I became disabled in June, 1950, but I am only 45. Should I do anything about my Social Security now, or should I wait until I reach 50, when I can draw benefits?

A — You should take action now to preserve your right to future Social Security benefits. In order to be eligible for disability insurance benefits, at age 50 or for the freeze, you must have had substantial recent covered employment or self-employment as of the beginning date established for your disability. An application to freeze your Social Security record filed before July 1, 1957 can establish a "beginning" date as of the earliest date the disability and work history requirements were met.

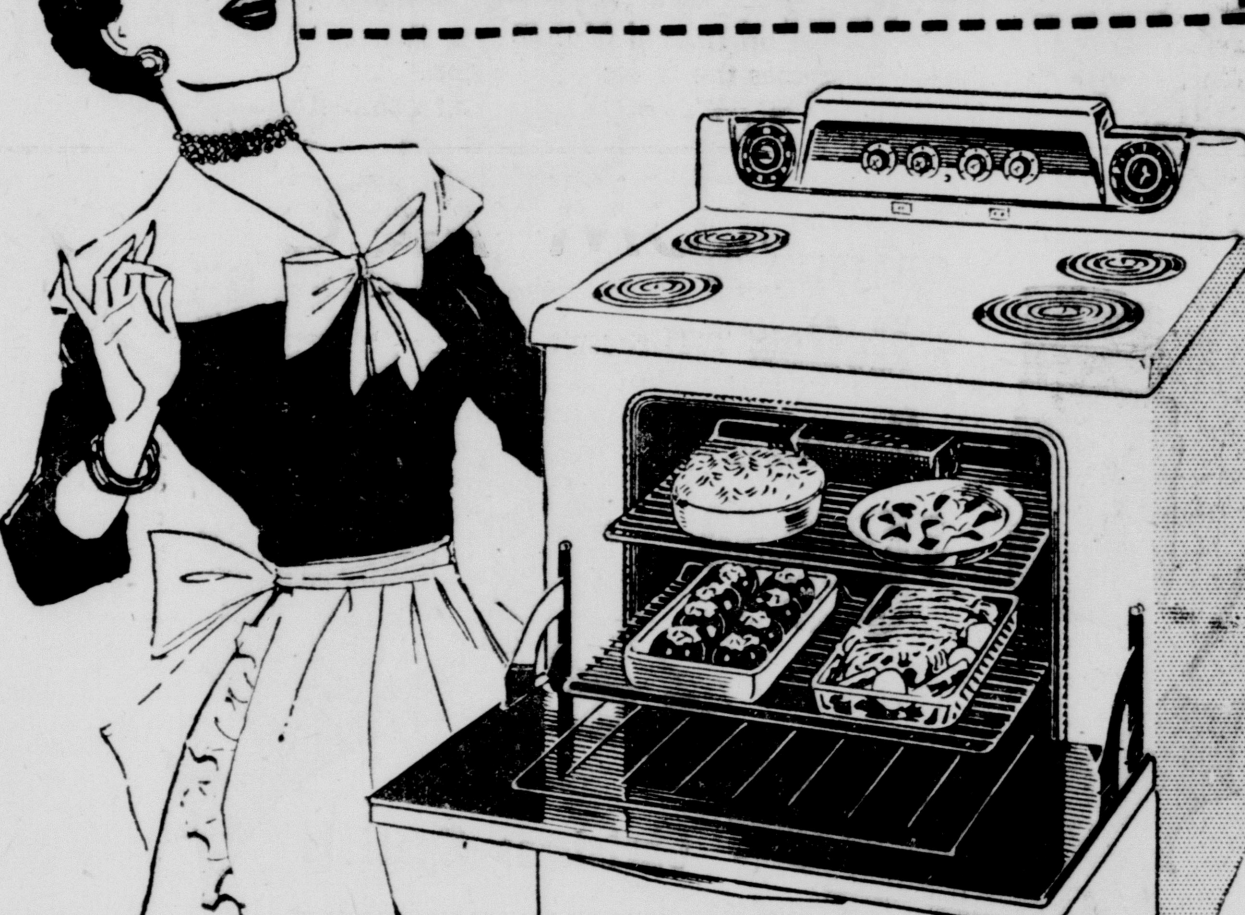

A freeze application filed after June, 1957, can establish a disability "beginning" date no earlier than one year prior to the date of filing. In your case, failure to apply before July of 1957 to have your Social Security account frozen would mean loss of insured status for both the disability freeze and future disability insurance benefits.

It would mean also certain reduction and possible loss, if you have less than 40 quarters of coverage, of retirement benefits at age 65. While no payments are possible in the near future, freeze application is essential to preserve future benefit rights for yourself and for your family.

THIS MUSEUM ACCENTS MUSIC

THE TITLE isn't unique—Museum of Recorded Music—but the contents are. In a mansion in Scarsdale, N. Y., this museum contains a wonderland of mechanical musical instruments from all over the world. A few of the many exhibits include music boxes that are objects of art and snuff boxes that sing a tune. The aim of its owner, TV producer Lewis Graham, is to make it the custodian of recorded music through the ages. His aim is excellent for he has found music from old steel discs to modern tape recordings, much of it unobtainable elsewhere. On the third floor, a visitor can see the development of mechanical musical instruments from the farthest date back to the present. It's a tourist attraction.

It's Getting Tougher To Find Money to Borrow to Buy Home

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—You want to buy a home? The rate of home buying has been going down. It has been getting tougher to borrow money to buy a home. This situation may not improve much, if at all.

Congress for weeks to come in the new year will be looking into the broad question of homebuilding, borrowing to buy homes, and the government's money policies. One committee started doing so this week. It remains to be seen whether anything will be done to make it easier to borrow money.

There is a big scramble for loans. It seems would-be home owners and small businessmen are at the tail end of the parade. Money is tight. Banks are looking around to see where they can get the best return on their investment.

Six times in the past 18 months, the government has tightened up on the banks by raising the charge on money which member banks borrow from the Federal Reserve.

This in turn makes these member banks less loose with the money they lend. They can turn to federal securities, high-grade corporation securities, tax-exempt municipal bonds to invest their money.

A bank has some continuing expense in handling a homebuying loan whereas if it purchases certain federal securities, it may have no other expenses, although it may earn only 3 per cent on those securities.

It has been suggested that if the government wants to tighten up on credit it should do so in the field of credit buying — the installment payment plans that consumers use. This was done during the Korean War. It's unlikely to be revived soon if at all.

The government has sought for years to encourage homebuying and to encourage banks to make loans to home buyers — through two principal agencies: the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) and the Veterans Administration (VA).

Until Dec. 1 both insured or guaranteed loans on homes, provided the interest rate was no more than 4½ per cent. On Dec. 1 the government upped the interest limit on FHA-insured loans to 5 per cent. In addition, there's a charge of 1 per cent for the FHA insurance.

The Eisenhower administration couldn't raise the interest ceiling on VA-guaranteed loans. Only Congress can do that. It's questionable Congress will when it returns next month.

One thing is certain: The higher the interest rate, the higher the cost of a home. On a $10,000 home with a 25-year mortgage, for example, the ½ per cent interest mark approved for FHA loans adds $900 in interest to the total amount of repayment.

The government's purpose in letting FHA loan interest rates go up was to encourage banks to make more home loans, since their profit would be greater. Perhaps not.

But if the banks hand out more loans under the FHA program, with its 5 per cent interest, they may make fewer to veterans who seek a VA-guaranteed loan with a maximum interest of 4½ per cent.

DEFECTIVE WALLPLUG AP Newsfeatures

DO . . . know that, when a wall end of a lamb cordthpluC gat plug at the end of a lamb cord gets out of order, it almost always is because the wires connected to it are frayed, broken or loose.

DO . . . disconnect the cord by loosening the two terminal screws.

DO . . . cut off the damaged parts of the wire and remove enough of the outer covering so that one and one-quarter inches of the undamaged wire is bare.

DO . . . run the wires through the plug, tie a knot in the insulated part of the cord and wrap the knot with a piece of electrical tape.

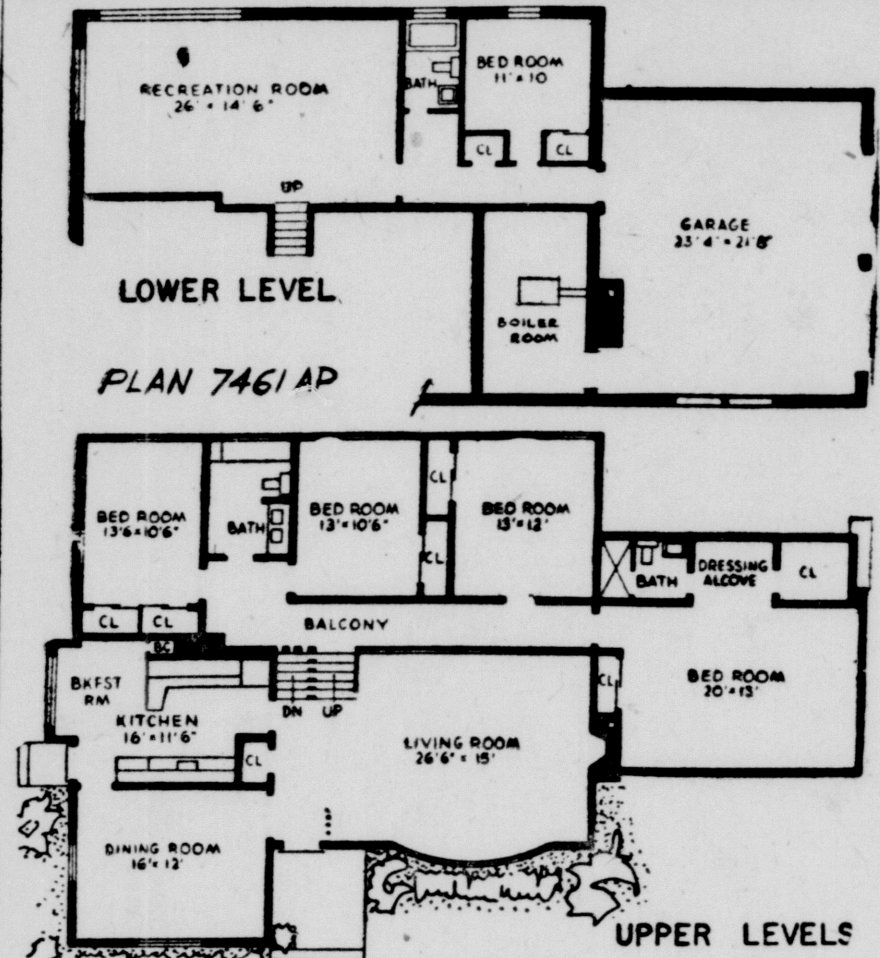

DO . . . fit the knot into the recess between the two terminal screws, wrap one wire around each terminal screw and tighten.

DON'T . . . neglect to wrap each wire around a terminal screw in the direction the screw will turn . . . a precaution that will prevent the wires from moving out of position.

DON'T . . . allow any loose strands of wire or insulation to peek out from under the plug; trim them off after the terminal screws have been tightened.

DON'T . . . wait for future similar trouble to develop; inspect the wallplugs periodically to see whether the wires have started to come loose.

DON'T . . . forget to advise members of your household that pulling a wallplug from an outlet by the cord instead of by the plug is the main reason why repairs are necessary.

A FRONT-TO-BACK split-level, this house has a ranch house facade, yet rises two stories in the rear. This arrangement provides five bedrooms, three bathrooms, a large recreation room and a built-in two-car garage on a ground area of 2,020 square feet. This is plan 7461AP by Herman H. Aid To Home-Seeking Vets In Small Towns, Farms Sought

By JAME SB. SIBBISON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio war veterans who want homes financed with "GI" mortgages—particularly those in strictly rural communities—should watch the new Congress.

Politicians say a fight is in prospect over raising the interest rate on these loans from 4½ to 5 per cent.

Proponents of this move claim that, unless this is done, hardly anybody will be able to get a GI loan. Banks, they say, simply won't lend the money at the lower rate.

The people on the other side of the argument, including Chairman Olin E. Teague (D-Tex.) of the House Veterans Committee, concede there is some truth in this.

But it is Teague's contention that raising the interest rate won't help the veterans who need the GI mortgages more than anyone else — the ones living in many small cities, towns and rural areas.

Past performance, he says, shows that veterans in these places never have had much luck getting GI mortgages. The ones getting most of this money, he says, are those living in big cities or their suburbs.

Chief reason for this, a Teague aide says, is that banks and builders find these areas more profitable.

Teague and his aides have some statistics for the entire country which they saw show the rural veteran is being passed up. Here are some samplings of the GI mortgage situation in Ohio taken from those figures:

Franklin County (Columbus) has 57,096 World War II veterans. Of them, 21.2 per cent have been able to obtain GI mortgages in the 10 years the program has been in effect.

But just three counties to the south is Pike County, a rural area with 1,580 veterans. Less than one-third of one per cent of those ex-GIs could get that type of loan in the same period.

Adjacent to Franklin County, on the north, is Delaware County. Just over half of one per cent of Delaware's 3,161 veterans got GI loans.

Other big city illustrations are Cuyahoga (Cleveland) with 24.2 per cent securing loans, and Lake, adjoining Cuyahoga, with 63.6 per cent.

Summit (Akron) had 31.2 per cent; Mahoning (Youngstown), 23.7 per cent; Marion (Marion), 47.1 per cent; and Lucas (Toledo), 25.9 per cent.

On the other hand, there are the rural counties of Adams (7.6 per cent), Athens (9 per cent), Clinton (1.69 per cent), Gallia (3.0 per cent), Henry (.99 per cent), Highland (.79 per cent).

Just what is proposed to be done by Teague and others—complaining about banker and builder favoritism to big city and suburban veterans—has not been determined.

One solution suggested by Teague would be more loans by the government to the rural ex-GIs.

Actually, the Veterans Administration now is authorized to lend 150 million dollars annually for GI home building. But Teague says hardly any of this money is being touched.

It is his idea to "cut the red tape" and use this money and add perhaps a billion dollars more for loans to veterans in what he considers the neglected rural sections.

Facts About Biennials Explained

By HENRY PREE

Most gardeners will agree that foxgloves, sweet Williams, Canterbury bells, pansies, forget-me-nots, and hollyhocks are among the most pleasing of plants for the flower garden.

But these plants are often disappointing to the beginner who sees their beauty fade after a season or two of bloom. This is because they are biennial and not perennial plants.

A biennial is a plant which is started from seed and requires two seasons to come to maturity. The first year it makes top growth, usually a fleshy root. The second year it produces flowers and seed, living on the food stored up in the root and then dying. A perennial is a plant which lives more than two years.

While trees and shrubs are perennials, the term is generally applied to flowers whose roots continue to live and send up year after year new leaves and flowers which die when winter comes.

A list of the better known perennials would include delphiniums, peonies, bleeding heart, phlox, iris, columbine, asters and day lilies.

While some perennials will flower the first year from seed sown early indoors, they are not at their best until the second year.

Where biennials are to be included in the mixed border, they must be treated as annual plants. The young seedlings should be placed in the desired position where they are to bloom and renewed by other plants the following year.

Even those biennials that are hardy and self-sowing, such as the hollyhocks, are not to be depended upon.

Second-year plants in many cases have a tendency to be weak and straggling with many smaller blooms. Canterbury bells and the "cup and saucer" form are indispensable garden flowers that like a good, rich soil and last much longer in bloom if planted in a half-shady place.

Sweet William is really a perennial but does much better when treated as a biennial. As a matter of fact, all the perennial species of garden pinks should be renewed every two or three years, preferably by seeds when named varieties are not included.

The common foxgloves usually are treated as biennials, seed sown early in the spring producing flowering plants the following year.

Hollyhocks are best used either in massed plantings or as background for low-growing plants. Pansies give their best bloom on young plants. Grown as perennials, with care, they may survive for many years, but new stock should space.

Seeds sown in late summer give blooming plants in early spring. Seeds sown in mid-winter make blooming plants by early summer.

HOMES ARE LARGER
Homes are getting bigger in floor area, according to the West Coast Lumbermen's Association. Informal family living, with more home activities, leads Americans to build larger homes with more living space.

Active Younger Children Are Tough On Walls

Architects are using more and more wood-paneled walls in schools and homes where there are younger children. Wood's toughness and resistance to all sorts of knocks and abuse makes it the ideal material to withstand the unintentional kicks and scars inflicted by active children at play.

New types of varnish and plastic finishes provide an easy to maintain surface on these wood-paneled walls. This is especially true when such durable and wear-resisting lumber as west coast hem lock or Douglas fir is used in these panel installations. An occasional wiping with a soft cloth is about all the maintenance and up keep needed.

Try cooking your scrambled eggs over very low heat and stirring only as eggs set if you want a delightfully creamy dish.

Hot Water Heats Split Level Homes

Illustrating the flexibility of hot water heating are the new installation methods that are being used in some of the modern split level houses.

One of the problems encountered by owners of split level houses is cold floors in the below-grade rooms. Since these rooms are often used for recreation purposes, cold floors are particularly objectionable, especially if children use them and want to play on the floor.

Heating and piping contractors have come up with a solution that permits babies to play in comfort on all floors.

The difficulty is being solved successfully by the installation of a radiant panel system in the floors of the below-grade rooms and a baseboard system for the upstairs rooms.

A single boiler supplies hot water for both systems. Each system is separately controlled by a thermostat which actuates an individual circulator for the circuit.

Special valves are provided so that water at a lower temperature may be carried in the circuit which serves the panel system, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau explains.

The same boiler which heats the house also heats the faucet water indirectly. The boiler is usually housed in an alcove off one of the below-grade rooms.

4% Rise In Consumer Spending Seen In '57

CLEVELAND (AP)—In a review of "prospects" for 1957, the monthly business bulletin of the Cleveland Trust Co. makes these forecasts:

"A rise of about four per cent in consumer spending.

"An increase in outlays by federal, state and local governments.

"A gain of five to 10 per cent in business spending for new plant and equipment.

"Some further accumulation of business inventories.

"A drop of four to eight per cent in the number of new dwellings started.

"Larger passenger automobile output."
